

Eutopia 2055

Europe, 2055. The former revolutionaries that promised justice and equality have, over the years, turned into a corrupt, self-serving gang. Distracting their citizens with prostitutes and mindless entertainment, it is they who rule the city-state of Eutopia at the heart of the old continent. Yet, a threat is rising. Outside its walls is the enemy clan of the Cynn, led by the strange Tibetan warrior monk, Master Dathul, who has long dreamed of freeing his people from the oppression of Eutopia. Preparing for war, Dathul sends an advance party to shut down the city-states first defense: the psychic, bureaucratic elite called the Telepathnocrats. Yet, coming face-to-face with Alexis, the Cynns most powerful and psychic warrior -- an old dreamer, head of the Telepathnocrats, is stirred to revive the old revolution, and to do it right this time. If he can use Alexis and her powers, he believes, he will be able create a new, more advanced people that is beyond humanity and its failings.
